The woman who is weak, nervous, tired and exhausted, who has a poor and variable appetite and no strength or nerve, who suffers from pains and aches, dragging down and burning sensations; and who recognizes, herself, that she has become irritable, cross, blue and despondent, is in almost every case suffering from weakness of the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity.

Thousands of women suffer in this way and do not recognize the cause, or if they do, understand their condition, neglect it rather than submit to the noxious examinations and local treatment insisted upon by the average physician. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a wonderful medicine for women who suffer in this way. It does away with the necessity for these trying ordeals, and may be used in the privacy of the home. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned, and makes them strong, vigorous and healthy. It banishes the discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It transforms weak, nervous, peevish invalids into happy wives and mothers.

Thousands of women have testified, over their own signatures, that they have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Any woman who will write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., will have the advice of an eminent and skillful specialist without charge.

Mrs. Cora J. McLaughlin of Rockport, Conn., writes: "I had displacement and inflammation of the uterus, and treatment of our family physician for a long time but received no relief. I had falling of the womb, and I was in great pain. I commenced using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (Cura Medical Discovery Pleasant Pellets) and I am cured. I was cured from the first day I began to use it, and in a short time I was able to do all my housework. If I had not been for your medicines I would have been dead long ago."

Stomach and liver troubles with sluggish action of the bowels are cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

UTILIZING THE GOUT.

It Has Power to Soothe the Man With a Cracked Shoe.

"Every now and then," said a man of moderate means, "something happens to remind me that I am only a novice in the art of life. For instance, my shoes were wearing out, and in one of them there was an ugly crack in the top. If there is one thing more disturbing to me than another, it is the sight of a shoe on one of my feet with a hole in the top. But I had not the money wherewith to buy another pair, and, though it may seem ridiculous, I couldn't very well spare the quarter that it would cost for a patch, to say nothing of the fact that a patched shoe is little less unsightly in my eyes than one with a hole in it."

"Walking, in this predicament, one day, I met a friend, whose means, so far as I knew, were little, if any, greater than my own. He now had in the top of one of his timely blacked shoes a carefully cut round hole. Since I had last seen him he had apparently prospered enough to have got the gout, a fact on which I ventured to comment.

"Why," he said, "you can get precisely the same kind of gout with a pair of shears." And then he smiled. He always was blithe and gay, no matter what betided.

"Well, when I got home I enlarged that hole in the top of my shoe to the size and respectability of a gout opening, and now, when I go down in the morning on the elevated, I don't hold that foot with the broken shoe curled under the seat, back of the other ankle, as though I had a curious habit that way, but I place it boldly out in front, and I read the paper with the air of a man who is going down town with his surplus interest money to take a little flier in stocks."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

AWAY BY THE AUTHORS.

But By and By Mr. Williams Got Over His Timidity.

Some day perhaps Jesse Lynch Williams may follow his book of newspaper stories with some sketches of magazine office life. He has had experience, and he can write them.

"When I first went to Scribner's Magazine," he said, "I was a walking interrogation point. The editor would toss a letter across the table just like a common piece of paper, saying, 'Here's a letter from Kipling. It's all right.' It might as well have been a note from his tailor.

"I stood by and shivered at the sacrifice. And the typewriters! They would pound out letters to Meredith, Stockton, James, Howells and Kipling just as they might have done to me, without changing a feature or marring a punctuation mark, and I marvelled at their nerve. One day a stout, middle-aged man brushed by me in the office. We begged each other's pardon.

"Hold on a minute," called the editor. 'I want to speak to you, Howells.'

"Is that Howells? I asked the office boy.

"Sure."

"Mr. Howells?"

"Yes."

"Mr. W. D. Howells?"

"Cert."

"Mr. William Dean Howells?"

"The same."

"And I softly caressed the sleeve that the novelist had brushed against as if it had been touched by a saint. But after awhile the feeling of awe wore off. We deal in authors. That's our business."—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

been broken off that very day. While she was talking she raised her left arm and threw it over the back of the chair where she was sitting, and as she did so a heavy link bracelet fell to the floor. It was her engagement bracelet and had been locked on her arm for more than a year. How or why it came unfastened I do not know."

Kansas Husbands.

A woman takes great consolation in thinking that some day when she is laid in the cold, cold ground her husband will wish he had her back to tell her how sorry he is that he treated her so mean. She imagines him weeping over the sod and wishing he could see her, if only for a moment, to ask her forgiveness. But he will not appear in such a scene. On the contrary, he will probably be chasing after some other woman.—Atchison Globe.

Big Money.

One of the largest and most cumbersome forms of money is found in Central Africa, where the natives use a cruciform ingot of copper over 10 inches long. It is heavy enough to be a formidable weapon.

Natal's hippopotamuses are extinct. The last herd was protected by the government on a reservation near Durban, but did so much damage to the surrounding sugar plantations that the orders were given to have it destroyed.

Clear Evidence.

"Charlie Youngpop's baby is beginning to talk now."

"Has Charlie been boring you with stories about it?"

"No, but I sat near him at the lunch counter today, and I heard him say absently to the waiter girl, 'Dim me a jinky water, please.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Sociological.

The Seeker—Really, is there such a thing as honor among thieves?

The Sage—Dr. well—instances have occurred where a member of the profession has been entitled to "Hon." before his name—Indianapolis Journal.

I'm Interested.

"I told her the fortune teller said I would marry soon."

"How did she take that?"

"She said she would say a good word for me to any girl I might pick out."

INJURED INNOCENCE.

The news clipper of the Austin Reveille (it has no editor, apparently) waxes wroth at the following jot from the JOURNAL:

"Typhoid fever is apparently becoming epidemic in Reno.—Reveille. Lying is apparently epidemic in Austin."

The shears and paste-man for once abandons his usual implements and resorts to the pencil in a bungling attempt to abuse the JOURNAL and presumed author of the addendum to the Austin sheet's assertion. He says the charge was made one day previous to any reference to the existence of typhoid fever in Reno in his paper, and consequently the JOURNAL lied in making the assertion. As the item had been going the rounds for several weeks it is no wonder that the Reveille clipper, in his zealous search for "filling-up" matter, duplicated the item, for the JOURNAL copied it on the day of the red, hot lie.

Where the item originated we do not know, as it had been going the rounds for several days before we noticed it, when the JOURNAL most emphatically contradicted it, and continued to do so as it appeared in different papers, most of which had the decency to publish the denial when made aware of their mistake. The contradiction was published in ample time for the Reveille clipper to have noticed it prior to the publication of the falsehood in his paper. The report that there were twenty-six cases of typhoid fever was harmful to the town of Reno, and the JOURNAL, as in duty bound, proclaimed most emphatically its falsity. It is true that the presumed author of the addendum lived in Austin for many years, four of which he was editor of the Reveille, when it ranked as one of the best papers, instead of the poorest excuse for one in the State, and he is confident that at least the old timer there possess sufficient intelligence to disbelieve that any reflection upon their veracity was intended in the JOURNAL's harmless method of calling attention to the malice or stupidity of the person who runs the sheet with which they affiliated.

The alleged "article" is captioned "Contemptible Journalism." As there is no journalism in or about the Austin paper, contemptible or otherwise, the writer is unable to class it except the counterfeit of an indecipherable journalistic monstrosity.

TREATMENT OF A WAR VETERAN.

Harry Chase, formerly a resident of Elko county Nevada, and Revenue Collector in Utah since 1836 when the writer of this resigned the office in his favor, has been removed from his position.

Mr. Chase fought on the Union side during the entire War of the Rebellion, barring the time of his incarceration in Andersonville prison, when he suffered such privations and hardships that his health was impaired for life. He and two comrades escaped from the prison, and after enduring almost incredible hardships for weeks, managed to work their way to the Union lines, when young Chase immediately resubordinated his musket and fought until the final surrender at Appomattox. He held his place during Harrison's administration and for fourteen years faithfully and efficiently discharged his duties in the revenue service in Utah. It was in spite of the protests of hundreds of prominent Utah Republicans that he was removed as it was generally conceded that his war record and proficiency entitled him to a place in the civil service of a country, in the defense of which he had put in his best years and nearly destroyed his health. But he was a Democrat—an offense which could not be overlooked or condoned by the Hanna-McKinley administration, so the law giving preference to war veterans was nullified and poor Harry has been notified that his place is wanted by some member of the g. o. p., whose political service deserves greater recognition than four years facing rebel bullets and starvation in the Andersonville hell is entitled, unless his voice is raised in praise of the glories of Republicanism and the purity and wisdom of the Hanna administration.

THE Virginia Report has entered upon the anniversary of its existence. It trots well for a three-year-old, although it sometimes manifests a disposition to break, but it will get over that by carefully watching the pace of the JOURNAL and in time come down to steady work. Notwithstanding its little idiosyncrasies it is a good paper and has the JOURNAL's heartiest wishes for its success.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

The Carson News of Wednesday has a long article relative to the State Board of Equalization matter which appeared in the White Pine News and copied with approving comments by the JOURNAL. As we had heard nothing of the act of such a Board this year, we were under the impression that the law was repealed by the last legislature and our comments were directed to the passage of a more effective law, and the election of men who would execute it in the interest of the people. Certainly the JOURNAL intended no reflection upon ex-Governor Colcord or the other member of the Board of Equalization during his administration and we cannot conceive how anything said in this paper could be construed as an aspersion upon any of these gentlemen as our comments were directed to a new law, supposing the old one to have been repealed. The News quotes largely from Governor Colcord's message of 1895 and makes favorable comparison upon the result of the work of the old board with that of the new, which it shows by official figures and which the JOURNAL has not the data nor disposition to deny.

It seems to us that the News went a long distance out of its way to take up the cudgels in behalf of men, who never having been attacked needed no defense, for there was nothing that we can discern either in the White Pine News or the JOURNAL to inspire such heroic championship for persons unassailed. In regard to the Appeal's article that is entirely another matter. Its comments and statements were in an entirely different direction from those of the White Pine News and JOURNAL. They did not meet the JOURNAL's approval and we intended to reply to them at an early date. We will say, however, that in our opinion, the present law needs amending in order to give the Board of Equalization greater power than it now possesses. It may be a good law, as Governor Colcord says, so far as it goes, but defective in many of its parts, and certainly has not effected the purpose for which it was ostensibly designed.

OLD PARDNER.

W. M. GOEWALDT.

My campfire was lighted when night drew near
Where a boisterous torrent roiled,
In the far lone land of the pioneer
Where the veins of the hills are gold.
Afar I beheld in the sunset glow,
Uplifted in regal pride,
The bold frowning peaks and the cloud-land
The crown of the great divide. [snow,
It seemed as I gazed on crag and fell
That I heard in the night wind's wail
The words of my pardner's sad farewell
At the foot of the mountain trail:
"You must go alone—I'm weak and old—
"You must climb the mountain side.
"May you strike it rich, my lad. There's gold
"Just over the great divide."

"I will not forsake you, old pard," I cried,
Over ridge and through gulch I sped.
A smile wreathed his lips as I knelt by his side,
Like the smile on the face of the dead.
In fever he moaned—his cheeks like fire—
Upstarting, he loudly cried:
"Wait for me, pardner, I'm climbing higher;
"Together we'll cross the divide."

"Together here and together up there—"
To the summit he raised his eyes,
Where the granite cliffs are bold and bare,
Where the wind-swept snow waste lies—
"I will lead you, pard, as in days of old
"Where quartz-mantled treasures hide;
"Where the river sands are gold, pure gold,
"Just over the great divide."

The morning dawned on the crags and snow
As I rose to scale the height
Alone. Old pardner's call to go
Had come in the silent night.
Good fortune or ill—No matter which Shall fate for me betide:
I pray that old pard may strike it rich
Beyond the Great Divide.

Quarantine Boundary.

Robert Parry, our well known business man, on his last trip to the coast from which he returned a few days ago, was instrumental in securing new boundary limits for the quarantine cattle district of California.

Mr. Parry has made several trips below for this purpose during the last year. The new boundary extends from the southern end of Marin county to the southern end of El Dorado, then bending southward to include Alpine, Mono and Inyo counties in the district outside of quarantine.

The Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for coughs and colds.—The Herald, Andersonville Indiana. For sale by W. Pinniger.

ARRIVED AT THE HALLS OF LEARNING

Sixty-nine New Students Register
—Old Students Enter Today.

At the State University the work of registration continues. Sixty-nine new students have been registered, and more are coming. As yet the old have hardly begun to register; the regular time set for that purpose begins this morning and finishes Saturday evening. Only eleven old students have registered, and many have not yet arrived.

Professor N. E. Wilson, one of the committee on entrance examinations, yesterday said to a JOURNAL reporter: "I think the total registration of students will be nearly the same as it was last year; possibly a few more. Of course, it is impossible to tell yet, as a good many old students may not return, or many new ones may come in yet."

The fees for registration are the same as last year—$5 per term for work in the chemical laboratories, $2 for iron or wood-work in the mechanical workshop, $2.50 for laboratory mineralogy, assaying or metallurgy, a small guaranty fund and a $2 fee for the support of athletics and physical culture.

EMPLOYEES ROBBED AT REDUCTION WORKS

Pickpocket Secures Money by Ransacking Coats in Dynamo Room.

Last Wednesday afternoon, while the men employed at the Electric Mining and Reduction Company were at work, a boy entered the dynamo room, where the men hang their clothes before going to their various duties, and went through the pockets, securing considerable money in coin.

The theft was soon discovered and officers informed, who, with their usual ability, soon captured the culprit, recovered the coin and returned it to the owners. The extreme youth of the thief led the officers to believe that he was acting as the agent for older persons, so he was released and watched closely as a means for paving the way to the capture of the others. The matter is being kept quiet for this purpose, but as yet the real culprits have not been caught.

Night Superintendent McGeon narrowly escaped being relieved of $60 in the pocket of his coat, which was hanging with the others.

Odd Names of Maryland Farms.

The curious names given to tracts of land by the owners in olden times are illustrated in a conveyance encountered by a clerk in the record office recently while engaged in reorganizing the indexes. The deed in question is recorded in Liber W. G., No. 60, folio 57. It was executed in 1790 and conveyed from Joshua Stevenson to Richard Gettings five tracts of land in Baltimore county, the consideration being $200. The name of each tract and its dimensions are as follows: My Sweet Girl, My Friend and Pitcher, 62 acres; Here Is Life Without Care and Love Without Fear, 41 1/4 acres; The Unexpected Discovery, 202 acres; Hug Me Snug, 15 acres, and Stevenson's Cow Pasture, With Little I am Content, 22 acres.—Baltimore Sun.

He "Peeked" Too.

Mrs. Blank found herself in a rather embarrassing situation one day when she was dining for the first time at the home of a minister. Opposite her sat the minister's little boy, a sharp eyed little fellow of 4 years. While his father was asking a somewhat lengthy blessing the lady elevated her eyelids slightly and caught the eye of the little fellow opposite her.

The instant his father said "Amen" the boy pointed an accusing finger toward Mrs. Blank and cried out shrilly: "She peeked, papa! she peeked!"—Harper's Bazar.

RENO WHEELMEN

HOLD HIGH JINKS

Clubmen and Their Ladies Spend an Evening of Pleasure.

Last night the Reno Wheelmen, who have already become famous because of their racing ability and stag banquets, introduced what may be termed an innovation in the way of a "Ladies night." A splendid program was prepared and the clubmen brought their sweethearts and wives to enjoy it.

The hall filled early in the evening and at 8:30 P. M. the announcer, introduced Rev. F. V. Jones who delivered a stirring introductory address in which he welcomed the ladies to the quarters of the Wheelmen, a club of gentlemen.

Chas. Loder then favored the audience with a vocal solo, which, as usual was encored, a fitting compliment to his ability.

The next number announced was a recitation by Mr. P. McCarran, in which he displayed remarkable ability. Responding to a recall, Mr. McCarran, declaimed a stirring selection from Sir Walter Scott. Mr. McCarran possesses marked dramatic talent.

Hardly any local entertainment is complete without the presence of the talented Julian brothers, who were on this occasion assisted in a violin duet by Ernest Oorris, pianist.

As a special attraction for the evening the program committee had secured a number by Miss Mable Stanaway, whose wonderful voice is attracting universal attention. A full of expectancy followed this announcement. Miss Stanaway came forward to the piano and sang to her own accompaniment. A moment of quiet was followed by thunderous applause which ceased only when she again seated herself at the piano and sang that sweet, simple old ballad, "Sweet Bessie, the Maid of Dundee."

Mrs. Phil Jacobs played a spirited waltz melody which was heartily encored.

Little Leo Hickman's beautiful ringing voice next thrilled the auditors. What a pity it is that such a gift of song should belong to the transitory period of childhood, only to become a dream of the past as the years roll by.

George Ward sang a vocal solo, accompanied on the piano by his sister, Miss Louise Ward.

The last number was a boxing match between L. A. Seitz and E. A. Stewart. The contestants appeared clad in multi-colored tights and were accompanied by huge retinues of seconds and "rubbers." For four rounds they exchanged "ponderous swings" and hooks, which in the end resulted in Seitz being "knocked out" by a blow which fell a foot short of the nose.

A splendid banquet had been prepared, to which the clubmen and their ladies next turned their attention.

Golconda Plant.

With the completion of plans upon which Otto Stalman, the general manager for the Glasgow and Western Mining Company, is now engaged the company's plant at Golconda, Nev., will be enlarged to a daily capacity of 400 tons. This is a portion of the good news with which Manager Stalman has returned after his annual conference with the big guns of Glasgow, Scotland, and will be cheerful information to the inhabitants of Golconda. In the meantime the army of men employed at the properties of the company is to be increased, and the opening up of the ore bodies at greater depths prosecuted with all possible energy, the company having equipped itself for a campaign even more active than in the past. Anticipating the needs of the company, the management provided itself at the start-off with abundant ground for enlargement, so that everything is ready for the artisans to be employed on the work.—Salt Lake Tribune.

"A Bachelor's Honeymoon" was written by John Stapleton of New York, and is a high class farce abounding in spirited fun and entirely devoid of offensive or vulgar features. It was originally produced at Hoyt's Theater, New York, and scored a triumph with the press and public. The play will be produced at McKissick's Opera House next Monday night.

YESTERDAY IN THE JUSTICE COURT

Examination in Perkins Case Completed—Will Be Decided Today.

The preliminary examination in the case of State of Nevada vs. Perkins et al. was resumed yesterday morning and continued throughout the day until 5 o'clock P. M., when all the evidence was in. Judge Linn will render his decision at 9 o'clock this morning.

The examination was tedious and to an observer it seemed that much of it was unnecessary. All things have an end, however, and at last all that the witnesses knew concerning the affair was written down.

Whether Cool, the prosecuting witness had a right to sell Perkins' horse for a pasture bill, or whether Perkins had a right to drive his stock away from Cool's farm without paying his pasture bill will be decided by Judge Linn this morning.
